Larry Cummins resigns his council seat due to health

Larry Cummins has been forced to give up his seat on AHM council due to health reasons.

In a letter to council, read aloud at last Thursday's regular meeting, Coun. Cummins said his recent heart attack "was caused from smoking, and excessive stress both in politics and my own personal business."

A special meeting was to be held Tuesday night by AHM council to discuss the situation. As we went to press no successor to Cummins' seat had been announced.

"We had been expecting this was possible," said Reeve Lyle McKnight as the letter from Cummins was read aloud. There are now two ways for council to go -- they may appoint a new council member from the public at large (he or she must be a qualified AHM voter) or they can hold a by-election for the seat.

Clerk-treasurer Elinor Burke advised against the latter move, saying it would cost $6,000. Coun. Gary Kenney said the province "might by sympathetic" to subsidizing the municipality for a by-election.

"I regretfully therefore tender my resignation as councillor...effective May 1, as my doctors recommended I forego my political career until my physical condition improves," continued the letter.

"Had my heart attack occurred toward the end of the three-year term, rather than at the beginning, I would have continued until my term expired; but, there are just too many municipal plans underway for me to continue. I have enjoyed working with the new members of council as well as those who were re-elected, and I wish you success both as individuals and council as a whole."

The Minden businessman also offered his help "either by serving on one of the many committees or acting in an advisory capacity."

A void

AHM councillors had feared the worse after Cummins heart attack in March -- but had held to the hope he would be rejoining them.

Council passed a motion "regretfully accepting" Cummins' resignation, while praising him for his past service and wishing him a speedy recovery.

Appointments

The last time a seat became vacant in AHM, it was Larry Cummins himself who advanced to the position of councillor.

In the election of 1980, Lyle McKnight, Dean Elliott and Ed Pergolas were elected as councillors. Pergolas won his seat after a judicial recount -- since he and Lary Cummins were tied at 421 votes each.

The recount showed the final tally to be Pergolas 420 and Cummins 416.

But even as the recount was sought newly-elected council member Dean Elliott (who polled 756 votes to McKnight's 821) was stepping down from his seat. He feared a possible conflict of interest in his work as the justice of the peace with his new council duties.

Elinor Burke told the Echo Friday that council is not bound to select a new councillor from the ranks of those defeated at the last election. Any citizen -- as long as he or she is a qualified voter -- can be selected.

In last November's election Gary Kenney (with 746 votes), Pat Burk (with 605) and Larry Cummins (with 529) were elected. Runners-up included David Stevens (470), Bern Barry (408), Ross Warburton (344), Dwight Thomas (337) and Mike Kitcheman (206).

Branch 129 celebrates burning of their mortgage

by Martin Biefer
Echo editor

It took them less than four years -- but Branch 129 of the Royal Canadian Legion has done it.

They burned the mortgage Saturday night -- a mortgage taken out to cover the costs (estimated at $105,000) of expanding the facilities at the Haliburton Branch.

About 150 guests enjoyed dinner and dancing Saturday night.

Speakers

The keynote speaker was Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey, who outlined some of the history behind the local Legion.

Branch 129, he said, was organized back in 1927, and received its Charter August 21, 1928. A resolution from an April 2, 1930 meeting or the organization revealed the "accommodation" of those first pioneers, noted the reeve.

It was resolved, he said that "the following items be purchased to furnish our new quarters -- a stove, stove board and stove pipe; 12 chairs; one table; four electric bulbs and a broom."

Three men were essential in the early organization's well-being -- Alfred Schofield, Dr. Frain and Edgar Bentham. Tough economic times forced the group (by then called the Haliburton Soldiers Club) to disband late in the thirties and on August 6, 1937, the final meeting was held.

The Legion was dormant until 1944, the reeve said.

George Brennan, a charter member, was back, and working with Reg Schofield, he noted. "On June 20, 1944 a rally of Old and New Veterans was held to carry on the aims of the Legion and Dominion command."

"At that meeting, some officers were named that are still active in this branch -- Bob Bannon, Bert Howe and Wes Baker."

Early headquarters for the Legion included a building where the Pentacostal parking lot now stands, the town hall, above Hussy and Reynold's furniture (now Varty's) and finally the Ned Biagi building, purchased in 1945." In that same year, the Ladies Auxiliary was formed, with Elizabeth Preston as president.

The Legion building on its present site was lots in 1952, due to fire. After a rebuilding drive, a new building burned again in April 1963. This fire destroyed, among other things, the Legion's charter, many war souvenirs, and "maybe sense of the pride" of the Branches' builders, said the reeve. It did not, however, break their spirit and resolve, he added.

A new building opened in 1964 -- and on November 11, 1970 that mortgage was burned by secretary Roy Bates. Bates said at that time that "before we get out our matches ...we mustn't rest on our laurels."

The Legion, he said, has not, and the present building is a landmark in the community. The Branch has helped students young athletes and charitable causes, he said.

Others present

Seated at the head table were Cliff Dawson and his wife Betty; District "F" Commander Paul Hycha and his wife, Margaret; Zone "F4" Commander Mel Robertson and his wife Marg; Branch President Sylvia Sisson and her husband Holly; Deputy District "F" Commander Doug Worrall and his wife Mildred; John Mathieson and his wife Nancy; Zone "F4" Commander (L.A.) Gwen Cox and honorary member Murray Fearrey and his wife, Darlene.

A standing ovation was given World War One veteran Wesley Baker, who attended with his wife Catherine. He also took part in the mortgage burning ceremony.

It took just a tug on the braided pull-cord from Ontario Lieutenant Governor John Black Aird Sunday morning...

....and the plaque commemorating architect B. Napier Simpson was unveiled. The plaque stands on the front lawn of St. Peter's Church in Maple Lake.

CUPE local, Dysart council reach agreement over make-work projects

It appears the dispute between CUPE Local 2142 and the Municipality of Dysart et al has been resolved.

Reeve Murray Fearrey released a statement Monday night on the issue. The Echo could not reach Leon Jones of Local 2142 at presstime.

The statement read as follows:

"There has been communications and clarification over make-work programs with local 2142 of CUPE."

"I am pleased that the matter has been resolved in the best interests of the community, which will allow projects to proceed as scheduled, and at the same time there will be dialogue with the local -- along with an assurance that make-work employees would not perform work that was normally performed by the bargaining unit."

Summer job woes in Minden

An unexpected refusal by Employment and Immigration Canada to make three grants available to the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden this summer may have cost 18 local students their summer jobs.

At the last meeting of AHM council Thursday Clerk-treasurer Elinor Burke was directed to contact the EIC offices in Peterborough, to "explain our concerns...and ask them to reconsider our application." As well, council will ask the federal government to let their summer job applications stand if more funding becomes available.

Disappointment

All the councillors expressed chagrin Thursday. "I guess Young Canada Works doesn't work in our township," said Reeve Lyle McKnight with irony. Pergolas said

OPP report

During the period between April 25 and May 1 personnel at the Minden detachment of the OPP investigated one motor vehicle accident (one person injured) and 54 general occurrences (seven break and enters, six liquor offences and four thefts).

Three-Wheeler Mishap

On Saturday at 1 p.m. on 12 Mile Lake Road West in Minden Township, Paul Edward Morden, 18, of Oakville, lost control of the 1983 Yamaha all-terrain cycle (ATC) he was driving when he failed to negotiate a curve. The vehicle travelled down an embankment and flipped over sustaining minor damage. Morden was taken by ambulance to Minden Hospital where he was treated and released. The investigation officer was PC Paul Shaughnessy.

This crew of young workers were blessed by warm weather last Wednesday on the Essonville Line, as they pulled soil samples for the county. The crew are students from a Sir Sandford Fleming College Drilling program.

Student road crews get blast from county

There was blasting going on last week on the Parish Line, the Harburn Road and the Drag Lake Road. Near Gooderham, on the Wolf Lake Road, a crew used a diamond drill to explore for mineral deposits.

On the Essonville Line a crew pulled soil samples. In other parts of the county, chainsaw work was being carried out.

What was the most interesting, however, was the fact that the labor was carried out by crews who worked for free.

In what has become an annual part of the curriculum students in a drilling program at Sir Sandford Fleming College in Lindsay make their way north, combingin their learning experience with practical results of use to county and municipal officials.

According to Ron Morgan, the program's co-ordinator, students are taught diamond and exploration drilling, blast-hole drilling, geotechnical drilling and water well drilling.

The idea, he said, "is to take the students into an area where we can simulate a working environment." Dysart and the county government have "kindly provided us with sites to drill," he said.

The work along the Parish Line and Drag Lake Road involved blast-hole drilling. As the name implies, holes were drilled in rock cuts, explosives inserted and detonated, and the debris cleared -- widening the rock cuts.

Soil samples pulled by the crew on the Essonville Line -- in an area that is largely a peat bog -- will prove useful to the county government, who can use the facts when they widen the portion of the road outside of Wilberforce.

Students are supplied with materials by the various governments, and are carefully instructed in their use by a team of instructors. Morgan praised the work of Keith Fickling, who he said did "a fantastic amount of work" dealing with county and local officials and setting up the on-site program.

Jack Keen helped implement the blast hold work, Tim Casey the blasting, Karmen Kiss the soil sampling, Fickling the diamond drilling, Bruce Pettit the chainsaw work and Gord Bailey the cable took drill.

Farmers discuss goats, sheep at regular meeting

by Ernest Hills

Perhaps because of the weather, let's hope in spite of the weather, one of the largest turnouts in recent memory made the April 30 meeting of the Haliburton County Farmers Association something of an event. Between 40 and 50 people gathered together for the meeting, demonstrating some of the genuine interest in the farming community has in the smaller varieties of livestock. The subject of the meeting was sheep and goat herds, their management and the economics of the industry, given the troubled times in other livestock ventures.

The meeting was graciously hosted on the farm of Ted and Mimi Carson, in Lochlin. This sort of endeavour ultimately requires more work than originally anticipated and throws a wrench into the daily routines of the farm. The Haliburton County Farmers Association is grateful to people like the Carsons, who put themselves out, and offer us the space to host such a gathering. The community, the Association and everyone in general benefits from such unselfishness.

On their farm in Lochlin the Carsons raise sheep, and presently have a sizeable herd. One of the real drawing cards for the meeting was the young lambs, which caught everyone's sympathetic eye as they nuzzled their mothers in the drizzle and the wind. The Carsons also keep a pair of newly acquired nubian does, one of which recently kidded, and the other which is due to kid momentarily. All in all the setting was idyllic for such a meeting.

There were a number of guest speakers on hand to keep the meeting lively and informative. Ted Carson himself is a national expert on wool, its processing, refining and weaving. During the summer he will be running a course on the subject at Sir Sandford Fleming in Haliburton. In addition Carm Hamilton, our area agricultural representative, was on hand to share his expertise on the subject of sheep. Carm is himself a sheep farmer, and spoke not only on the subject of flock management, but some of the shortcomings of the industry here in Canada. Specifically the lack of wool processing facilities hereabouts, and some of the non-adventurous type consumers who overlook the fresh Ontario lamb at their grocers.

Some of that same mentality can be said for chevon, which is goat's meat. Both are lean, nutritious and delicious meats which might add to the variety of your meals.

On the subject of goats, the Association was delighted to have on hand Marilyn Taylor of Lakefield, and Doug Andrews of Norwood. These people came a long distance in order to encourage and inform would-be goat enthusiasts. Both have been very active members in the Ontario Dairy Goat Society and the Kawartha Dairy Goat Society; both have had, or presently have, large dairy goat operations of their own; and both have shown goats at the prestigious Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

Marilyn Taylor is regarded as one of the most knowledgable individuals on the subject of goat herd health and diseases, in many circles of the goat business. She also organizes the 4H goat program in her area, and was kind enough to re-schedule their weekly Saturday meeting in order to accommodate us. Doug Andrews fielded questions pertaining to conformity, udder attachment, and general appearance of the animal, both for the purpose of the novice seeking to purchase a goat, or for the individual who is interested in showing their animals.

Of note at this time perhaps is the work that is being done to bring together a larger and more demonstrative goat show, both for the Haliburton County Fair, and the Kinmount Fair. Sharron Greer was on hand with a sampling from some of the breeds of her goats, including two young Alpine doe kids, and an older Toggenberg doe, which Doug Andrews used to illustrate some of the more excellent points of a good dairy goat animal.

All in all, with the large attendance of inquisitive and interested people, as well as dedicated participants and guest speakers, the day was a tremendous success. All topped off with a repast of dairy products made from goat's milk, those in attendance were treated at the end of the day to hot coffee and scones made from goats milk whey; cottage cheese and yogurt from goat's milk; and ice cream, or even just a plain glass of fresh goat's milk for the adventurous! Nice way to head into the toils of the season ahead, eh?

A reminder to those of you who were not in attendance at the meeting of April 19 but who do intend to participate in the farmers market by setting up a stall at the market. It is important that I have your name prior to June 1 in order to facilitate purchasing vendors permits. If I don't have your name, when you arrive at the market you may not be allowed to set-up, so call: Ernie Hills at 488-2784.

And one last time, the Haliburton Highlands Goat Society is holding its first general meeting Sunday May 8 (Mother's Day) at 2 p.m. at the home of Jerry Murray. He is located four miles east of Norland, on the north side of Highway 503. This is a must for anyone interested in goats.

Bell offers financial aid to Trent

The Peterborough District of Bell Canada Ltd. has made a $30,000 contribution to the Trent University Fund for Excellence.

Bell's Peterborough District Manager of Customer Services Bert Powell said the contribution -- five annual gifts of $6,000 each -- is unrestricted, to be allocated at the discretion of the university.

Powell said Bell Canada has a company policy of contributing to education and regularly supports Canadian universities. Bell's 454 employees in the Peterborough district benefit from the educational, recreational and cultural facilities and programs Trent provides to the Peterborough community he said, and the company's gift is made in recognition of Trent's contribution to the community.

Bell's Peterborough District office is responsible for all aspects of customer services in Peterborough, Lindsay, Haliburton Highlands west to Beaverton and east to include Campbellford.

$6,000 grant

In expressing appreciation to Bell Canada for this gift, Trent's Executive Vice-president John Leishman said the company has been a strong supporter of the university since it opened in 1964.

"This gift reflects increasing public recognition, both nationally and locally, of the value of a quality liberal arts and science education and represents the commitment of local corporations and individuals to Trent's role in the Peterborough community," he said.

This donation brings the Fund for Excellence to $2,852,185 or 57 per cent of its $5 million objective. Campaign organizers hope to reach $3 million by the end of June.

Board and teachers agree on new salaries

It was announced by Cheryl Murdoch and Gary Brohman, on behalf of the Haliburton County Board of Education and Teachers' Salary Negotiating Committees respectively, that the salary agreement for the school year 1983-84 had been ratified this week by both groups.

The new agreement provides for: (a) a Liaison Committee to consist of board and teacher representatives and the director of education; (b) a change in pay schedule from 10 payments to 12 monthly payments; (c) a 5 per cent salary increase as allowed by the restraint legislation. No other alterations were made to the present agreement.

Both parties were pleased by the cooperative manner in which a settlement was reached.

Fishermen advised to Algonquin Park conditions

"Spring fishermen arriving in Algonquin Park for the opening of trout season on April 30 are in for a surprise and disappointment", predicted Algonquin Park superintendent George Whitney today.

"The fact is, most or all of our lakes will still have ice in them on that date and travel by canoe or boat will be simply impossible. On the other hand, the ice in many areas will be too slushy and treacherous for travel on foot".

"It is impossible to predict, now, exactly when the ice will go out and the only safe thing to do is to check with our Information Centre (705-633-5572) for updates in the days leading up to the opening day of fishing season".

Katimavik off and running in Haliburton and Minden

by Martin Biefer
Echo editor

The Katimavik projects for Haliburton and Minden have been approved -- and project supervisors were in this area last week to begin the preparations for the work ahead.

Supervisor for this area is 27-year-old Brenda ("B") Rootham, a graduate of the University of Waterloo's recreation program. Her counterpart in Minden is Scott Moody of Thunder Bay.

Virtually free labor

The main selling point of the Katimavik program is that it will be providing both the Minden and Haliburton areas with virtually free labor over 30 weeks.

The program is funded by the federal government, and estimates from Katimavik show that about $75,000 will be spent by each crew in the course of a project.

Rootham explained that Dysart's crew will involve "participants and a group leader." She's currently looking for a house to rent, where the crews will live over the three 3-month "trimesters" of the program.

In this area, the crew (who work for room and board and $1 per day pocket money) will be handling, among other things, changing exhibits and displays at the Rails' End Gallery, painting, cataloging at the museum, maintaining local parks, assisting at Arc Industries and creating new ski trails...among other things.

"It's a lot of physical work," said Rootham. Helping out at the various carnivals throughout the summer and "whatever else is going on in town" will also be among the young students' (17 - 21) tasks.

In Minden, projects proposed earlier this year included ski trail maintenance, retaining walls for the Gull River, and the building of scenic paths and gardens, to name but a few. Coun. Pat Burk met with Katimavik project manager Scott Moody last week.

Blending in

Rootham once again stressed the goals of Katimavik -- to "serve communities, experience personal growth, develop a sense of the environment and an awareness of their country."

Participants will "get to know Haliburton townsfolk -- and find out what living here is all about." To go one step farther, participants will board with Haliburtonians for two weeks each "trimester," she said.

Three separate teams will take part (Rootham will stay throughout the project) and each will involve kids high school and post-secondary aged 17 - 21 and "demographically representative" of Canada.

"For example, there will be a 50/50 split of males and females; one-third of the pariticipants will be French speaking, and there will be members from different income brackets," she said. There will also be a mix of city and town-dwellers, said Rootham.

Participants will be given, in their group-home environment, much practical skill-building in nutrition and personal well-being. "Most of them -- if they're normal kids -- have probably been living on french fries and gravy," joked Rootham.

Leisure time will be active -- biking, skiing, and walking, rather than just sitting around -- and the group environment would serve to give participants more social awareness, she said.

Rootham was picked for the job because she's no stranger to the area, and has educational qualifications. She was a camp councillor at Camp Timberlane, near Haliburton. She said she's "worked nearly every summer I can remember" as a camp worker, director or cook. "I'm a people-oriented person," she said.

No "yahoo-ism"

Rootham

Another point of interest to local residents is the strict set of rules participants must adhere to.

"For those worried about 'yahooism' there's no drugs, no alcohol, and no cohabitation allowed within the house," she said. Katimavik workers aren't allowed to hitchhike either, she said.

They won't be "taking jobs away from people" since they are doing much-needed community tasks for free, she pointed out. "The work we're doing wouldn't get done otherwise," said Rootham.

Rootham said she's looking for participation from the community. People with expertise in any area -- whether it be in carpentry to making maple syrup -- are invited to come forward and help "expand the knowledge and experience base these kids have got."

The Katimavik house will be "open to visitors...and we want to encourage the kids to make friends in the community."

If you know of a house that could be rented to Katimavik; or would like to billet someone, contact Wayne Wood at the Dysart municipal office.

Plaque at St. Peter's honors local architect

The congregation of St. Peter's Anglican Church in Maple Lake were blessed with sunny skies Sunday as Lieutenant-Governor John Black Aird unveiled a plaque commemorating the late B. Napier Simpson Jr., a well-known architect and heritage advocate and former Stanhope Township councillor.

Just before 11 a.m. the Lieutenant-Governor's limousine, escorted by an OPP cruiser, pulled up at the church gate. He was greeted by B. Napier Simpson Sr., the late architect's father, as well as other members of the Simpson family.

Among the other dignitaries on hand at the Sunday morning service were John Eakins, M.P.P. for Victoria-Haliburton; Haliburton County Warden Bill Howe, and Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis.

After a service inside the church, officiated by Rev. George Elliott, concluded, a crowd of well over 75 people assembled on the church lawn for the unveiling.

Rev. Elliott extended greetings to all present, and then introduced guest speaker Russell K. Cooper, the administrator of the Black Creek Pioneer Village.

Service

The architect's life, related Cooper, was one of service and innovation. He graduated from the School of Architecture at the University of Toronto in 1951 -- convinced, according to documents from the Ontario Heritage Foundation -- that "the 19th century was the golden age of architecture." He began his life-long interst in the heritage conservation movement.

He established, along with Toronto architect Mackenzie Waters, his own private practice in the Thornhill area. From a starting point of restoring older homes to modern use, Simpson shifted, in the mid-50's, to work on public restoration projects.

He played, according to Cooper, a major role in the establishment of Toronto's Black Creek Pioneer Village, as a consulting architect. He served on the advisory committee on design for Upper Canada Village, near Morrisburg, and, closer to this area, Century Village at Lang (near Peterborough).

Among the many other projects Simpson took part in were the restoration of Colborne Lodge and Fort York in Toronto, Gibson House in North York, Montgomery's Inn in Etobicoke, Fryfoel Inn near Stratford, and Penetanguishene's historic naval and military establishments. Interestingly, he was also involved in restoration plans at St. Peter's -- where he is buried.

After serving for many years on various heritage boards, Simpson became a director, in 1974, of the Ontario Heritage Foundation.

A populist

Simpson enjoyed the public demands of his position, and the OHF has praised his ability to raise conservation consciousness "at the grass roots level."

He "enjoyed giving public lectures, and writing popular articles," note the Foundation.

He also displayed an interest in politics, serving, as mentioned as a councillor in Stanhope Township, on the planning board of Markham, and on the Board of Governors of Havergal College in Toronto.

Simpson was a long-time resident of Stanhope township and attended St. Peter's Church for many years.

Audrey Simpson (left), the widow of noted Architect B. Napier Simpson, stands with Ontario's Lieutenant Governor John Black Aird as the plaque commemorating her husbands life and work is unveiled. The plaque is located on the lawn of St. Peter's Anglican Church in Maple Lake -- where the late architect is buried.

Tragic ending

Simpson's career was cut short in 1978, when while en route to Newfoundland for a plaque unveiling ceremony he and seven other members of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada were killed in a plane crash.

After Cooper's brief summation of Simpson's work, the Lieutenant-Governor pulled the silk cord and removed the velvet cover from the plaque. B. Napier Simpson Sr. said he was honored by the tribute to his son.

After the ceremony all enjoyed refreshments in the church basement, provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Peter's.

AHM eyes July 1, tree-cutting and hostel

The hostel for seniors in Snowdon Township, Canada Day, and a tree-cutting by-law were just some of the many items dealt with at last week's regular meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council.

Tree-cutting by-law?

The issue of a tree-cutting by-law for AHM was discussed briefly by council.

Coun. Gary Kenney, who has been examining the by-law now in place in Dysart said he felt it was, on the whole, "a good by-law."

"It doesn't impinge on the rights of cutting for your own purposes," he noted, adding that the "sunset clause" in the by-law -- which calls for a total review of its effects after one year -- was a wise provision.

Coun. Kenney said there would have to be many changes in the Dysart by-law if similar legislation were ever to be introduced in AHM. Those changes "wouldn't effect the meat" of the Dysart by-law, but would deal with geographical differences -- such as the presence of deer yards and so on.

Reeve Lyle McKnight said the Dysart by-law is better suited to the large amounts of private land in Dysart. He pointed out that Dysart had to hire an inspector to enforce the by-law.

"The bulk of the tree-harvesting here is done on crown land," he said. That fact alone might make the by-law "not matter a whole lot one way or another."

An official from the Ministry of Natural Resources will attend the next AHM meeting to discuss the matter further.

Hostel in Snowdon

After holding a meeting with representatives from Dysart, Stanhope and Snowdon Townships the reeve suggested that individual council members "go out and have a look" at the "domiciliary hostel" for seniors run by Willis McNeeley in Snowdon Township.

McNeeley has asked several councils for financial assistance, so that the hostel could receive additional funding from the province. However, council agreed they should examine carefully what liability for debt the municipality could encounter by entering into any agreement.

Currently there are 10 residents in the hostel -- four each from Dysart and AHM and one each from Snowdon and Stanhope.

The reeve said AHM "should not vote on (the issue) right away" until further information about funding and the hostel's operations are obtained.

Coun. Kenney suggested that a similar hostel, now operating in the Belleville area, be contacted. "The concept (of small hostels for seniors) is good," he said, but felt the director of the Belleville hostel should be asked what problems his group faced in setting up and funding their facility.

• Grants affect summer jobs in AHM

he was upset that the loss of the grant "involves 18 students...and now we don't have anything for them" in terms of summer work.

The reeve noted that although there will be quite a bit of summer employment in the area "those 18 kids won't be able to get jobs here." There will be work programs funded through the Ministry of Natural Resources and through the federal NEED program -- but they'll only be open to people who had been receiving unemployment insurance benefits, pointed out Reeve McKnight.

The Katimavik program involves young people from outside the area. "It's hard on the kids," he added.

Clerk-treasurer Elinor Burke told the Echo that the three grants would have employed the 18 students in "labor-intensive" efforts. Among the projects put forward were repairs to the shore of the Gull River, creation of bike paths, and "a passive area and walking trail" behind the library.

Some of these projects were mentioned in the CAUSE-Plus application -- which two weeks ago was approved, and netted the municipality a $145,600 NEED grant.

"The duplication has left us," said the reeve.

New principal for Norland

The Norland Public School will have a new principal in the fall.

Tom Murphy, formerly principal of Kirkfield Public School, will take over in Norland in September. He will replace Brian Hough, who is moving over to the Alexandra Public School in Lindsay, where he will be principal.

Other appointments in the Victoria County Board of Education this fall include that of Keith Junkin, the new principal of the Kirkfield Public School, and Arnold Bullock, the vice-principal of Lady Eaton Elementary School in Omemee.

Director of Education Dr. David Disney said it was his sincere hope...that these people will find these new opportunities to provide leadership both challenging and rewarding."

Murphy, married with three children, has taught in the board since 1968.

According to Superintendent of Schools Dave Parrott, Murphy was at Kirkfield "for about five years" and previously taught at Lady Eaton in Omemee and the Ops s hool.

Chamber to hold forum in Cardiff

Responding perhaps to criticism that it is largely a Dysart-based organization, the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce had embarked on a program to seek better communications within the county.

In a press release issued last week, the Chamber stated that it will be holding monthly board meetings "in various communities from time to time...and the public in those communities is invited to attend."

On May 10 a Chamber's board will hold their regular meeting in the Bicroft Community Centre, at the townsite of Cardiff.

"The board will hold their regular meeting in the afternoon, adjourn for supper, and then re-convene at 7:00 p.m. for an open forum session," states the release. Everyone is welcome to attend the forum -- and coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Joe Paul, the owner/operator of the Cardiff Food Fair, is the Chamber's director from "the eastern townships" and will be hosting the directors for dinner.

Communication

Chamber president Rhonda Elstone said that "the county of Haliburton is a large and difficult geographic region to serve with one Chamber...but we are convinced that one Chamber is the best way to do it and are prepared to go to considerable lengths to make it work." The release also notes that there are only two county-wide chambers in the province.

Initiative in providing sattelite information services has been shown by the municipalities of Anson, Hindon and Minden, Lutterworth, Cardiff and Bicroft, and Dysart et al. All these areas have already established (or are in the process of establishing) individual tourist information booths.

Manager Bob Stinson of the Chamber said one problem the organization faces is keeping up to date on coming events.

"We have a pretty good handle on the major annual activities, but the smaller, lower profile events often don't reach our office until it's too late to assist with their promotion," he said.

"I hope that through meetings such as this we can meet some people who are willing to call us with this kind of information," continued Stinson.

According to the release, a similar meeting is planned in the fall for the Dorset area. The Chamber hopes the meetings will have a dual effect -- making it more convenient for some of the members of various communities to meet with the board while at the same time educating some of the board members about parts of the county they aren't familiar with.

Survey indicates Canadians favor Imperial measure

Tory MP Bill Domm of Peterborough says the results of recent polls indicate that "the vast majority of Canadian people, in all age brackets, do not support compulsory metric."

The results of a poll taken by CKO Radio would seem to bear out that assessment. Fully 66.8 per cent of those surveyed "personally felt...that the use of metric measurement, that is liters, kilograms and kilometers should be voluntary, that is, left up to the individual to decide if they want to measure in metric." Of the balance, 28.4 per cent favored government legislation controlling measurement, and 4.9 per cent were undecided.

Next, 64.8 per cent said they "preferred" Imperial measurement to metric measurement. There were 26.6 per cent in favor of metric, 7.7 per cent with no preference, and 0.9 per cent undecided.

Of the 18 - 29 year-olds surveyed (all educated in metric) 73.3 per cent favored "voluntary" choice in measurement. The same age segment favored Imperial measure as their "personal preference" over metric.

Domm said he "urges the people of Canada to write the Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs with copies to myself, pleading for a return to voluntary metric conversion similar to the process used in the United States "

Legion's efforts great

Last Saturday night the members of Branch 129 of the Royal Canadian Legion put the torch to the mortgage on their building.

The mortgage had been taken out to cover the $105,000 cost of extensive expansion at the Branch -- including a spanking-new kitchen that is one of the best in Ontario.

The Legion here -- faced several times with disastrous fires -- have given us, once more, a building that is a benefit to the community and that we can all be proud of.

But as former Secretary Roy Bates said back in the early seventies, "the Branch must not rest on its laurels." We're certain the good people of Branch 129 have no intentions of doing that.

In recent months they've continued to support community projects.

Back in October, for example, the minden Red Cross Hospital received $1,500 from the local branch -- money that was put aside for the hospitals new emergency room.

Haliburton's Red Cross Hospital received $1,500 as well -- and put their money towards a new blood pressure machine. A total of $1,000 went to the Haliburton Minor Hockey Association -- with the aim of helping children who can't afford our national sport to play. Another cheque for $1,000 went to the Minden Minor Hockey Association, and the money helped hire a bus to take players to out of town games.

Both the Minden and Haliburton Figure Skating Clubs were granted $1,000 cheques to help their efforts. In Minden, the money helped defray the costs of a new sound system at the arena.

Here, a promotional venture -- designed to help sign up more young members -- aided the local club.

These are just some of the more young members -- aided the local club.

These are just some of the more recent accomplishments of the Branch. One mustn't forget their yearly donations to the board of education, through scholarships to students, or their work with the local Scouting movement.

Nor can we forget some of the memorable events the Legion has been involved in bringing to Haliburton and area...the spectacular Drumhead Services over the years, the many parades, and the stirring sounds of the pipe bands.

And of course, there's the social aspects of the Legion -- bringing people together for dinners, sporting events, or friendsly conversation.

The Legion was reborn here (an earlier attempt had petered out in the thirties) immediately after the Second World War. It was a heady time for the young men and women returning home to Canada -- the men and women now numbered among Legion executives throughout the country.

They had fought -- and had won -- an ideological war; a war against the dictatorship of Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito.

They had fought for the preservation of our way of life here. During the war years, Canada was united as it never has been before -- and sadly, never has been since.

But through the efforts of the Legion (and all the other organizations in our community) we are reminded of the need to serve. The need, perhaps, to make things available to our youth that their parents didn't or couldn't have.

The need to build a better community -- and the need to preserve the memory of those who died for freedom. That's the Legion's torch -- and they are carrying it high.

ACLD Festival of Fun

The Association for Children with Learning Disabilities held their annual Festival of Fun Thursday night at HHSS. Without a doubt the program was enjoyed by the large numbers of people who turned out to see it.

The Echo has a full page of pictures from this night elsewhere in the newspaper.

We should, however, praise the ACLD for its efforts in aiding those with learning disabilities. There is the swimming program at the PineStone Inn, the successful series of seminars held over the winter, and much more good work carried out annually.

The problems of the child with learning disabilities can easily be incorrectly interpreted by parents and peers. A child, we were told, can appear to lack intelligence when in fact he has a simple handicap in learning. These people can flourish, given the right circumstances.

Through the work of such organizations as the ACLD and Camp Tall Pines, children are given the extra encouragement they need to succeed.

All this -- and music, too.

Info centre clarifies "From the Chamber" report

To the Editor:

In reference to "From the Chamber" -- Information Centre lacks funding.

As chairman of the managing board of the Haliburton County Information and Referral Centre, I would like to clarify a few points.

1. The Information Centre's application for funding is still pending. It has not been unable to obtain funds as Mr. Stinson suggests.
2. Because of the Chamber's insistence that they were given a mandate and funds from County Council to promote the Highlands of Haliburton; and that the Information Centre was duplicating their services, our managing board agreed that weekly news releases of coming events to the media would be prepared exclusively by the Chamber, starting immediately.
3. Even though the Centre operates now with the help of trained volunteers under the direction of part-time volunteer-coordinator Leopoldina Dobrzensky, it is providing a full range of services as before.

Yours very truly,

Museum feature helped make open house a success

To the Editor:

I would like to thank you for the very nice feature article about the Museum, printed in the paper on March 23, dealing with our recent open house. I'm sure that your article was in a large part responsible for making this event a success.

I thoroughly enjoyed our conversation of historical matters, your comments were both stimulating and thought-provoking. I hope to pursue some of your suggestions as well as take you up on your offer of assistance, in the future.

Sincerely yours,
[Mrs.] Gaylene Johnson, Director

A big thank-you from the Ontario March of Dimes

To the Editor:

On behalf of the staff at the Ontario March of Dimes and the many thousands of physically disabled adults with whom we work, thank you for your support during our Ability Fund Campaign this year.

Your generosity means that more money can be directed into providing vital services and programs for disabled men and women. By running our ads, your readers are now more aware of both the contributions which can be made by disabled people when given the opportunity and the work of the March of Dimes in providing these opportunities.

Please extend our words of appreciation to the members of The Haliburton County Echo. "We Can't Help Without Your Help".

Sincerely,

Reader recalls the horrors of McCarthyism in U.S.A.

To the Editor:

Anyone remember reading the reports of the Un-American Activities Committee? No? Well, this is what happened. On January 3, 1945, during the opening session of the 79th congress, a surprise bill was passed by a vote of 207 - 186 converting the committee into a permanent congressional body. The chairman was Republican John E. Rankin of Mississippi.

A rabid anti-Semite and white supremacist, the wizened, sallow-faced man had been described by the official Nazi propaganda bulletin "Welt-Dienst" (World Service): as an "outstanding American".

Under Rankin's leadership, in the months following V-J day, the Un-American Activities Committee launched an all-out anti-Communist crusade.

In incessant lurid press releases, public statements and official reports the committee proclaimed that "Soviet imperial" was plotting world domination and that a Kremlin-directed network of saboteurs and atom bomb spies honeycombed the United States; professional anti-Soviet propagandists, Communist renegades and other "expert witnesses" appeared at committee hearings and told hair-raising tales of "Red spy rings" and Soviet war preparations against America. Typical of the "authoritative" testimony at the committee's hearings was that given by the anti-Soviet ex-diplomat, William C.

Feir Play

Time marches on and it won't be too long before the 24th of May will be upon us. This is the time of the year that we think of as the start of a busy summer season that takes us through June, July and August. It would appear after talking to some of the local business people that a few of them are getting prepared for the summer months ahead with an optimistic view. A great many others are asking themselves the question of what the summer season has in store for them. We seem to be coming out of the recession which should make a difference but there is still a great deal of unemployment and gas prices are still high. These problems could keep a few people home.

Some are saying that business is off this spring and the question seems to be whether to blame it on the economy or the backward spring. A friend told me the other day that life is just what we want to make it and if we are continually going to talk gloom and doom then this is just what we are going to get. We must all talk and thing the same way. I have an optimistic view that at least the same number of people will visit the Highlands of Haliburton this coming summer as did last year but there is always that possibility that instead of a cottager coming up to his cottage every weekend, he may drive up every other weekend.

Let's face it; a great deal always depends on the weather. If we get mainly warm days and clear skies this will bring the people back but if we are unlucky and get a lot of rain and cool weather we could be in for a few bad disappointments. I also maintain that there is lots of money floating around and now that we are told that we are pulling out of the recession and the buyers gain more confidence that the economy is getting in better shape, they will start to spend money and start buying things once again.

I think that we all have to agree that we have been in a recession but have things really been that bad here in the Highlands of Haliburton. Some people would lead us to believe that the economy is really bad here at the present time, but we can't seem to see too many signs of it.

The Rotary Clubs of Haliburton, Minden and Fenelon Falls met recently at a tri-club meeting at Fenelon Falls that was well attended, the food and refreshments were good and plentiful and the guest speaker was Doug Collins, an ex-Ottawa Roughrider who was in good form with amusing anecdotes of his football days.

I have just been looking over the April 29 issue of the Hockey News with a photo of Steve Larmer on the front cover. Inside is quite a write-up on Steve, his brother Jeff and their parents who live in Peterborough. Steve plays for the Chicago Black Hawks while Jeff toils for the New Jersey Devils. The Larmers are related to the McColls at Eagle Lake. Both of these boys look to have a promising future in the National Hockey League.

I was in error last week when I mentioned that the Rotary Club of Haliburton would be holding their Steak and Lobster night on Saturday, May 7 at Deer Lodge. It should have been Wig-A-Mog Inn.

It was good news that reached our office last when we were informed that the 1984 District A-16 Lion's Convention will be coming to Haliburton. The 50 Lions Clubs who will be attending couldn't have selected a better spot than Haliburton to hold this convention. We have the facilities plus the beautiful scenery and fresh air to go with it. Just listen to this. Art Ward estimated that 500 delegates will attend bringing about $120,000 worth of business to the area. We can certainly use it. And they tell me that you have never seen a parade until you have seen a Lions Club parade. According to Art Ward of Wig-A-Mog Inn it was the hard work of Bob Stinson and Gord Bennett that succeeded in convincing the Lions to hold their next convention here.

We have been hearing quite a bit of news lately that urea formaldehyde foam insulation -- apparently installed in about 32 homes in this area -- is a health hazard and the federal government want it removed for the safety of all. If you are one of the home owners who have urea foam in your home and want it removed may we remind you that a federal government gran of $5000. is available by writing to Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada, Hull, Quebec. From what we can learn you don't have to do anything with the removal immediately -- but you would be wise to register with Consumer and Corporate Affairs so that the government are made aware that you have this insulation in your home. Just recently Jim Johnston of Jim Johnston Contracting and Denver Lewis (both of Haliburton) have taken a course on the proper removal of this insulation.

More controversy surrounds Sick Children's Hospital

Sick Children's Hospital

Yet one more baby's death at Sick Children's Hospital is being investigated by homicide detectives. The infant's body contained elevated levels of digoxin, and the death occurred despite a recently adopted unit-dose drug distribution sytem which allows only single doses of drugs such as digoxin to be administered.

The news of this infant's death became public shortly after the Attorney-General had announced a public inquiry into 28 suspicious infant deaths at the hospital. According to the attorney-general, it is quite conceivable that a person could admit to murder during the public inquiry probe into the deaths, and never be prosecuted. People testifying before the Royal Commission will be able to use the protection of the Canada Evidence Act.

"That means any evidence they give cannot be used against them in a court of law", he said. Police will be monitoring the inquiry and could lay charges on any new information, but he said "we have to face up to the reality that someone could admit to being the perpetrator of these crimes and we might not be able to lay charges because the only evidence is that person's own admission."

David Peterson and other Opposition members have pressed for a public inquiry into the hospital and especially into the manner in which the police had conducted their investigation. He warned that the Royal Commission "cannot be used by the government as a stalling factor or a white-wash of the issue". "The decision...is long overdue", he said, and we hope the government's delay in initiating it will not prejudice any resulting benefit a public inquiry might bring."

A spokesman for the Hospital for Sick Children, reacting to the attorney-general's announcement of a Royal Commission of Inquiry into the deaths in the hospital's cardiac wards between 1980 and 1981, stated that the hospital has lived with low morale for two years, has continued to provide good service, and will do the same during the public inquiry.

Ontario Hydro

The petrochemical manufacturing consortium, Petrosar Ltd., is suing Ontario Hydro for $105 million for breach of a 15-year contract to supply the utility with massive quantities of heavy oil. Petrosar, in which the federal government is a minority shareholder through Canada Development Corporation, alleges that Hydro twice -- once in 1981 and again in 1982 -- broke a 1976 agreement to buy 7.3 million barrels a year of residual oil for two new power stations. One of the two plants was cancelled during construction and the other was mothballed last summer.

RANKIN: Then they're just like human slaves in Russia?

BULLITT: There are more human slaves in Russis than ever existed anywhere in the world.

RANKIN: You said before that 60 per cent of the Communist party here are aliens. Now what percentage of these aliens are Jews? Is it true, Mr. Bullitt that the Communists went into the southern states and picked up Negroes and sent them to Moscow to study revolution? Are you aware they teach Negroes to blow up bridges?

There was nothing new in the fantastic tales by Bullitt and other committee witnesses. Since 1938 these tales had been the regular stock in trade of the Un-American Activities Committee. But now they presented to the American people by the nation's press and radio as news of momentous importance, and were even cited by high-ranking government officials as data vitally affecting American's domestic and foreign policies.

Report from Parliament

Bill Scott, M.P.

Interest rates doing a turnabout, says Scott

Thankfully, interest rates are now a far cry lower than they were even last summer. Mortgages taken out now are at rates which are bearable. This is, of course, beneficial to the housing industry and building is starting up again across the country. There is no doubt this is a large element in the indications pointing to economic recovery.

This turn around in rates has made some planned government interest subsidy programs quite useless. The Small Business Investment Grant Act, Bill C-136, which I had the occasion to discuss in the House of Commons in April was designed to provide interest rebates to reduce the rates to 12 per cent. This is of little use now.

An unfortunate aspect to the drop in rates is the fact that many people were forced to renew mortgages when the rates were high and now are making payments which are far out of line with today's rates. Their only alternative is to buy out their mortgage.

This generally involves paying their lending institution some penalty for doing so. This is understandable, the lendors have had to finance these mortgages themselves at high rates of interst. I have had, brought to my attention, several cases where the penalty requested is between nine and ten thousand dollars.

On April 25, i asked the minister of finance, in the House of Commons, if he would consider providing the lendors with some incentive to allow these people with exorbitant rates to buy out their mortgages with a minimum penalty. His answer was no. Furthermore, he said that most of those in this category had only one year mortgages and would soon be able to get out of them. I was not content with his answer and I informed the Speaker that I was not.

On April 26, I was given the opportunity of discussing this issue further during the adjournment debate in the House. I pointed out that those people who I hear from were not able to renew for only one year. These were for five years. Due to this government's high interest rate policy at the time they now cannot afford the payments nor the penalty that the lendors require to renegotiate the mortgage.

The response of the parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Finance was that he was sure there were few people in this situation, and I should direct individual cases to the Minister for his attention. There is now intention, on behalf of the government, to provide a general program of assistance.

Chamber of Commerce

Two points of view on the importance of tourism

Two Different Worlds

In the past few weeks we have read with great interest a number of documents about the state of the tourist industry now and in the future both in this province and Canada-wide. The outlook provincially and federally is so vastly different that it's hard to believe that Ontario is in fact part of Canada.

The country as a whole is in a crisis situation. A crisis that "far from dissipating as general economic conditions improve, may worsen, --" according to a brief presented to the federal government by Tourism Industries Association of Canada (T.I.A.C.). Tourism Ontario on the other hand in their pre-budget presentation to Treasurer Frank Miller said that "Ontario tourism enterprises have, however, demonstrated considerable strength and resiliency in the fact of these tremendous economic deficiencies and difficulties" and that "the tourism industry out-performed most other sectors of the provincial economy during 1982."

There certainly is a difference. This is reflected in a survey compiled by "Ontario Business", an Ontario Chamber of Commerce publication, that showed that 80 per cent of the respondents felt that the federal government is not doing enough to address the economic recession while 60 per cent called for an immediate federal election. Only 10 per cent wanted a provincial election.

Not Addressed In Budget

T.I.A.C., in their brief, pointed out that the tourism industry, being the second largest employer in Canada, deserves to be recognized by the federal government as an important entity. The government responded by ignoring the industry completely in their latest budget. Tax policies regarding capital formation for the resort industry have a negative impact, the gasoline pricing policy has been devastating and the amount of federal money spent on promoting tourism has "been effectively eroded by some 40 per cent over the past decade." While the province wins accolades with their high-profile "Yours to Discover" campaign, the federal gov "Yours to Discover" campaign, the federal government continues to give their Canadian Government Office of Tourism a second-rate presence under the department of Industry Trade and Commerce. It's time, way past time, that this country had it's own tourism department.

Canada is losing ground

International tourism generates $106 billion annually. This is an amazing increase of 328 per cent in less than ten years. Domestic tourism has grown 241 per cent in the last six years as well, and together with international travel accounts for almost a four-fold increase since 1975.

Canada, on the other hand, dropped from $13.8 million international annuals in 1972 to $12.8 million in 1981. Canadians were at one time fourth-largest generator on international tourism payments, and we now have dropped to eighth. Our share of the market had dropped from 4.2 to 2.7 per cent. In the last decade world tourism receipts tripled while Canada didn't even double.

Need tourism ministry

By the turn of the century tourism is expected to be the world's biggest industry. Our federal member for Victoria-Haliburton, Bill Scott advises us that they are urging the opposition to treat tourism seriously and create a separate department for it. Those in the industry and those in the Canadian Government Office of Tourism agree. Fletcher states "The fact that Canada's share of world tourism receipts has declined significantly in recent years may well be an indication of our lack of success in adapting to market changes and in developing new products to meet changing needs." We agree.

Why not drop a line to M.P. Bill Scott supporting him on this issue? In the meantime thank your lucky stars for the fact we are in Ontario where "Yours to Discover" is saving the day.

New magazine

Waldoen Magazine, a new publication being printed in Fenelon Falls, advises us that they are now preparing to print an annual "Business and Entertainment Guide" for Kawartha-Haliburton. Ten thousand copies will be printed and sold on newstands in the Toronto, Oshawa, Peterborough and Kawartha-Haliburton regions. It's a 96-page 6½ X 9½" book and will contain information on where to stay, eat, enjoy yourself and where to find service clubs and local churches. The minimum size add is 1/8 of a page at $35 which also provides you with an editorial write-up. Gail Jenkins will be calling in the area and if you wish to ensure a call from her possibly you should contact their office at 1-887-2855.

The Kinsmen Club of Minden is holding a flea market at the fire hall on Saturday, May 14 with all profits going to Cystic Fibrosis research. Those with items to donate should contact Rob Young at 286-1584 or Don Ribley at 754-2270 for free pick-up.

Victoria Day

There is more activity being planned for this holiday weekend than we have seen for some time. It's Kintoria Day in Wilberforce, and Mayfest in Minden with Rotary dance and bake sale run by the Figure Skating Club. In Haliburton on Sunday there will be band concerts, canoe races, paddle boat races, snowmobile watercross demonstrations, a fishing derby, horseshoe tournament, and of course, a huge fireworks display in the evening.

Minden BIA plan to stock Gull River with trout

Minden's BIA committee have embarked on an ingenious scheme to make the Gull River more attractive to tourists. They plan to stock it with rainbow trout.

Coun. Gary Kenney of AHM brought up the plan at a council meeting last Thursday. He is AHM's representative on the BIA.

He said the BIA "we're wondering if council would participate" in the project, since "a couple of hundred dollars buys an awful lot of fish."

The BIA, said Coun. Kenney, is looking at promotional aspects of the stocking. There's talk of releasing tagged fish, with prizes awarded to those catching them.

The councillor reported that the Ministry of Natural Resources feel the idea "is terrific...and would do it themselves" if funding was available.

Council expressed a lot of interest in the idea.

However, there's bad news for duck hunters.

Although the BIA would like to locate ducks along the Gull, the web-footed creatures would be brought in "for viewing pleasure only."

Deputy-reeve Ed Pergolas pointed as well to the laws prohibiting the shooting of firearms in the town of Minden.

Coun. Kenney said the BIA hopes the ducks will mimic their counterparts in Minden, and thrive in their Gull River habitat. "The only time they may become welfare recipients will be during the winter," noted the councillor.

Soccer club is all set

The brand-new Haliburton County soccer team will open its regular season in Gravenhurst this Sunday.

According to Jim Milne, it will be about three or four weeks until the first home game is played. The squad practised Tuesday night in Minden, he said.

So far, 25 players have signed up, and enthusiasm is running high, reported Milne.

However, in indoor exhibition play this weekend in Bracebridge the local players discovered there was more to the indoor game than what meets the eye. In three games they were shut out, by scores of 5 - 0, 10 - 0 and 9 - 0.

"It's certainly much different outdoors on a bigger field," joked Milne, adding that the players had wondered how goals could be scored into the small indoor nets. "We found out," he laughed.

Curling awards night is held

The Haliburton Curling Club held its annual banquet Saturday night at Deer Lodge.

Winners of the Beall Trophy (ladies schedule) were Sheila Elston, Sue Bennett, Barb Ramsay and Marlene Bennett. These ladies also took home the Curry Trophy as playoff winners.

The winners of the Hughes Trophy (men's schedule) and the Gilliam Trophy (men's playoffs) were Gary Bailey, Carl Wallace, John Sutherland and Bob Fyfe.

Winners of the Tuesday Mixed Schedule and the beachli Trophy were Steve Colliver, Doris Winter, Brent Colliver and Sue Bennett. The rink also took home the Bank of Montreal Trophy for winning the mixed playoff.

Winners of the Friday mixed schedule were John Beachli, Debbie Wilson, Charlie Smith and Sandra Bishop. The rink took home the Elstone Trophy.

Finally, the mixed "best of the rest" title in division "B" play went to Gary Bailey, Sandra Casey, Maurice McKee and Linda Easton.

Officers elected for Haliburton baseball association

At a meeting held on April 19, officers were elected for the coming year in Haliburton minor baseball. This year's president is Nancy Brink. The secretary is Pat Cowen, and Walt Prime is treasurer.

Application for players from ages four to 14 are now available at the schools or from Nancy's Flowers.

A registration night will be held on May 11, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Senior Elementary School. It would be appreciated however if interested players would send the application forms in sooner, if possible.

Games are scheduled beginning Wednesday, May 25 and will continue each week until the end of July. Bantam level will play at the arena ball diamond; the remaining teams at the HHSES and high school grounds.

Please note, that this ball season cannot operate unless we have the support of interested adults to provide coaching and other duties.

We need your help. Please contact Nancy Brink if you are in a position to be of assistance.

AHM votes to donate up to $100 for car racing trophy this winter

The council of Anson, Hindon and Minden will make up to $100 available for a municipal trophy -- to be awarded during the popular car racing on ice events coming up next winter.

Council passed a resolution last Thursday approving the expenditure. The trophy will be presented to the ice racing sportsman of the year, in connection with Minden's centennial next year.

Reeve Lyle McKnight said the races bring a lot of business into the area, and council congratulated Tom Prentice for his efforts in setting up the event.

In retrospect

Again want, hunger, the grudging dole,
Accompanying these the rattling sabre.
And once again the war drums role
Tomorrow looming stark macabre.

The harbingers of what will be tomorrow,
The tragic sequence follows through.
The pattern knits, it's features grow,
Those of the thirties in review.

From the bread lines and the jungle
The homeless ones they came.
Those so-called bums, those without work,
Whose hunger was their shame;

To whom the word democracy
Was something quite abstract,
Some kind of a reference
But never quite a fact.

They came in answer to the drums,
A ragged, starved, array,
To fight for God and country,
Defend democracy.

And now they were our heroes,
And bygones were bygones.
Somewhere in France there is a cross
The hungry man atones.

If once again such arid years
Makes paupers of young men,
Will we see advancing heroes,
Or draw the blinds again?

Spring

Spring has come, the earth awakes,
Gone is the ice from rivers and lakes,
Sweet songs of birds again abound,
Bulbs poke heads up through the ground,
Trees are in bud, soon grass will be green,
Flowers will bloom -- what a beautiful scene!
Hearts are awakened, love's in the air,
Nature is mating, pair after pair;
The weather is perfect, not too cold nor too hot,
Tourists are travelling, mosquitoes are not;
Moms are spring cleaning, unpacking cool clothes,
Warm winter apparel in hiding goes;
Dads are out golfing, when not in the yard,
At planting and pruning they work very hard;
School's almost over, vacation's ahead,
But first come exams which most students dread.
Faith re-awakens, after darkness comes light,
Spring follows winter as day follows night;
Things do improve, if with patience we wait,
Spring always come, though sometimes it's late.

It was nice to see so many sons, daughters or maybe some dear friends come in to see the residents over the weekends, it brings so much pleasure, and brightens the days up too. I know if some of our family doesn't come it leaves us feeling blue. We missed the first part of the church service Sunday night -- we had company.

Mary Oliver has a grandson getting married in October; Marie Baker, a daughter in May, congratulations. We hope the minister ties the knot so tight, married they'll have to stay.

Movies Monday night included "Bears and Men" and "Pictures of the 1930's" which we hope won't occur again. We have Mrs. Ellen Knight who they say is 98, she can still use a spinning wheel now don't you think that's great.

Tuesday morning Lieutenant Buell of the Salvation Army, Haliburton held a real interesting service in the chapel this lovely spring day, our faithful came again to sing and play, thank you all we would like to say.

Tuesday afternoon Doris said it is such a lovely day, would you like to go for a bus ride? Now what do you say, it will do you good, give you some fresh air and put some colour in your cheeks and blow the cob webs out of your hair. So we boarded the Hyland Bus -- the girls said we will take you where you choose; we wanted to go someplace where we could get some booze -- but no matter where we went all they had, it seems, was different kinds of pop and ice cream. Then they took us to Gelert to see their real nice homes and sister Ruby's too. We thanked them for such a lovely time -- it was the least that we could do.

Fred Ballard came Tuesday night to entertain us for an hour, I was suppose to help him out but didn't have the power. I am sorry Fred, instead of playing the harmonica I was stretched out in my bed.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of Minden Anglican Church served a real nice lunch and had a lovely birthday cake for those that had birthdays in the month of April. The men didn't show up; they were too shy, the ladies caught up and kissed them as they went by. Our president of the residents' council got up and thanked the ladies for this social time. Then Jennifer Purc got up, now she has lots of pep, she danced the highland fling for us and didn't miss a step.

We would like to say a word here about the different ladies that come in each Thursday, to serve a cup of tea and have a social time together, nothing seems too much trouble -- not even the weather.

Now for our spiritual needs: The first Tuesday morning of each month Rev. Elliot of Minden Anglican Church holds a communion service in the chapel here. Then Rev. Burgess with his helpers has a service each Sunday night. Each Tuesday morning, whether dull or bright, some minister takes the service to keep us living right. So you see we fare well spiritually as well as physically, a big thank you, and may God bless you all.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shorter have been spending a few days in their town house visiting with their daughter. A member of the Kinsmen Club came up here Thursday night and conducted the bingo game and did the job just right. We didn't hear who won the big jack pot and we didn't know who the caller was but we thank him a lot.

Our entertainers came this Friday afternoon to lead us in a sing song and some favorite tunes. A lovely poem was read and from The Sound of Music Grace sang "These are a few of my favorite things". Norma came to play, we thank you both for coming this lovely April day.

Help for battered women is available

Recently there has been much talk about the subject of "battered women" in the media.

In many parts of the country, hostels for abused women and their children are coming into existence. As far as we know, Haliburton County does not have such facilities at the present time.

The nearest alternate shelter for women in crisis is Y.W. Crossroads in Peterborough at 743-3526. Priority is given to women, who are temporarily without a home and teenage mothers.

In addition, the Y.W. "Crossroads" service will provide emergency overnight accommodation for single women on a 24-hour basis for up to seven days.

If you need information or have a problem, do not hesitate to call your Haliburton County Information Centre. We will do our best to help you. The office is located in the Drag River Municipal Building, Haliburton, telephone 457-2733. Office hours are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Drop-ins are always welcome.

Bird song hits high note in month of May

In the month of May, the finest time of day is that golden hour just after dawn, when the morning chorus of birdsong is at its peak. Often the birds seem to be singing just to outdo each other in joyfulness, but in fact birdsong serves an essential role in the life of birds. The study of these songs has been one of the interests of Prof. J. Bruce Falls, a scientist at the University of Toronto.

"Spring is the time of mating and territoriality, when birds hormonal levels are at a peak," Dr. Falls explains. "It is then they sing their lustiest songs".

Bird songs are sometime used to communicate simple messages, such as the presence of danger. But in the spring, most birds are singing to establish their territories and attract mates. These territories will supply the food and shelter for the nesting season ahead. In forests, because birds cannot see each other easily, their songs tend to be more elaborate. These woodland birds depend on sound to advertise the fact that "this territory is taken".

Bird watchers know that each species of bird has its own particular pattern of song, and a good birdwatcher uses his ears as much as his eyes to identify birds. Dr. Falls has found that even within a species, birds have their own repetoire, and that a nesting bird can keep track of its family and its neighbours by their songs. If a tape recording of a strange bird is played inside a territory, a protective or hostile reaction can be expected from the home birds.

But if birdsong is just one more means of survival for our spring birds, it's a happy coincidence that theses proclamations of territory are so pleasant to the human ear.

Mother's Day Tribute

Worthy of tribute, a special Mother who always went "above and beyond", this is my Mother.

Easter and Spring filled youngsters with coltish activity. Dear Mother, how well I recall her saying, "I understand your desire to skip and play hop-skotch, but please go lightly in your shoes."

Yards of straw braid, carefully hand sewn, made as pretty Easter hats as any from the hat shops. And the new dresses; what designer creation could excell those so carefully sewn. Oh, the material was not the best, not in the "Depression", but it was crisp, and new, and love was sewn into every stitch.

Summer brought freedom from the school routine for us, but worry for Mother. What a roamer I was, and a dreamer. The hours I spent watching rain-filled, grassy hollows, and making "rafts" of stray boards just criss-crossed to keep me barely afloat. Suddenly, the wet feet and hunger pangs alerted me to having overstayed in my imaginary world. Quickly, I gathered a fistful of daisy charmers. Surely the flowers Mother loved would soften her when I arrived, tardy and wet.

Picnics were a family specialty. We walked, carrying our lunches; a simple meal on a grassy hill became a feast. How understanding of children's need for activity was my Mother. The sunny day we rolled down a green, grassy hill to arise covered with soot from the hidden, burned grass! How could she have had the patience to avoid reprimand, and show comprehension by saying she had loved to roll downhill, too.

Fall was loved by our family. Color for Mother, an artist, was something one could almost absorb, inhale. So we learned very early to get as close as possible to nature. One of her great gifts to us was deep appreciation of the beauties and wonders of nature.

Christmas revitalizes memories of "The Tree" sparkling above brightly-wrapped gifts. The Depression's ugly tentacles were barred from a house full of laughter and song. From top to bottom, song spilled from every room. Tired, overworked, often ill, yet she sang or whistled to keep up her spirits, and ours.

And that Christmas doll! Cheap dolls had straw-filled bodies and limbs with a metal washer holding wired joints for a degree of moveability. Mother spent hours when we were asleep - and she should have been - covering those raw, open ends with padding and soft cloth. Then tired hands lovingly crocheted little clothes to cover a wee dress of pretty scraps. Bits and pieces; we all learned their use from her necessity.

How careful she was, my Mother, to never show favoritism. A couple of cheap pencils and crayons made a final balance in our gifts.

With strength and time she really could not spare, what a hill of snow my Mother shovelled

AHM discusses Canada Day

Canada Day

Because of an overwhelming amount of correspondence from local service clubs and associations, the municipality will be holding a general meeting "for those groups interested in participating in Canada Day celebrations" on May 9 at 8 p.m.

The Lions Club, the Kinsmen, the Minden Nursery Play, representatives from the high school, and the Rotary Club were among the groups contacting AHM's offices.

Deputy-reeve Ed Pergolas and Coun. Pat Burk are already working on attracting The Family Brown, a well-known country and western band, to the July 1 festivities.

Other business

• the municipality voted to place a $175 ad in a Minden and area promotional publication, produced by The Times of Minden.

• an LLBO hearing is going to be held concerning the Rockcliffe Tavern's plans for an expanded outdoor deck. No date has yet been set.

• tenders were received for floodline mapping of the Gull River, and went as follows: The Procter and Redfern Group -- total estimated cost $22,500, plus additional work $6,500; Paragon Engineering Ltd. -- estimated cost, $11,975, optional items, $6,900.; the Greer Galloway Group -- total estimated cost $24,600, additional $1,000; Totten, Sims, Hubicki Associates Ltd. -- total estimate $32,900, additional work $5,400; Dillon Consulting Engineers and Planners -- total estimate $18,000, additional work, $1,600; A. J. Robinson and Associates Inc. -- estimated cost $39,630, three quotes for additional work -- $1,732, $6,400 and $12,156, and Kilborn Limited -- $40,260.

Council voted to consult Don White of the Ministry of Natural Resources, since the province will be footing 90 per cent of the costs of the mapping work. As well, Coun. Gary Kenney noted that "some of the prices were quotes, and some were estimates."

The proposals were referred to the Liaison committee for review.

• a resolution was passed requesting the county to tender "on our behalf" to apply 2.3 km. of double surface treatment to municipal streets and the Bethel Road. Prince Street was mentioned as one street that needed the surfacing treatment.

Fat - protein torments farmers

Feeding Affects Fat Production

One of the problems which loses a lot of money for many dairy farmers, is called a fat-protein inversion.

What is a fat/protein inversion? It is a condition in dairy cattle whereby the butterfat test has dropped to a level less than the protein test.

Last year, over 12 percent of dairy farms in the area had F-P inversions three or more months, and another 28 percent had inversions in one or two months. That's a total of 40 percent of the dairy herds affected.

Studies have shown that when these inversions occur, the average butterfat test will drop from about 3.8 kg/hl to 3.1 kg/hl.

If you have 45 cows producing an average of 6,000 litres of milk per year, you can lose about $800 in one month using the March price differential for butterfat test. That's a lot of money.

How do you know if you have a fat-protein inversion? On each month's milk cheque, the levels of both fat and protein are indicated. If the fat level is lower than the protein level, then an inversion has occurred.

Low butterfat test can be caused by a variety of factors -- usually the major culprit is your feeding program.

F-P inversions occur most often during the spring when the cows go out onto lush pasture. The best preventative measure is to feed some hay before turning them out, or provide free-choice hay in an outside feed bunk.

Another cause of inversions is an improper feeding schedule. Cows rely upon coarse forages to stimulate rumen activity or chewing their cud.

If a high-producing cow is fed little or no hay before a sizable quantity of grain, the end result could be depressed fat test. Altering the feeding schedule to feed grain more frequently and after a feed of hay will help alleviate this problem.

Make sure your grain mix is coarse textured or rolled. Have your ration balanced. Proper levels of protein, energy, calcium and phosphorus are essential for top milk and butterfat production. Magnesium and potassium also play a key role in the production of fat.

The physiology of milk production is complicated. Changes in fat test due to ration are gradual. It takes about two to three weeks for the test to fall and an equal time to recover.

There was a lot of good fun for everyone at the Seventh Annual Festival of Fun, held at the High School, Thursday night. At the top left is Burt Smith of the Lochlin Sour Notes. Below, Nancy Picard and Harold Brodhagen play a duet. At the top, the young voices of Callum Wood, and Angie Main sing in the HHSES choir. In the middle row at left Mr Long and Peggy Neville sing a duet. Cliff Briden, Marianne Lindsay and Luke Schell of Camp Tall Pines played a couple of numbers. The youngsters from Archie Stouffer School danced (at top left) and Laurie Smith and Kim Smith of Faith Stephenson's Highlands dancing class performed some dances.

Love

A humger for food is a hunger true,
Millions have felt it, possibly you,
But a hunger for love is harder to bear,
It's the need of a person for someone to care.

To love and be loved is a most basic need,
The search for such love in strange paths may u lead;
For love is a concept not well understood,
Yet in anyone's life it's the ultimate good.

Love, like a rainbow, has colors galore,
It flows over lives like waves wash the shore,
It invades hidden crevices deep in one's soul,
Can wash out the darkness from souls black as coal.

Love can lift a man's soul from the well of despair
And waft it aloft into clean and fresh air,
Can soothe and caress with a tender soft touch,
Full of compassion and caring so much.

Love's match when struck can explode with a roar,
Like a missile, to undreamed-of heights, it can soar,
Love can warm any heart like fire in the grate,
It can kindle good will and melt away hate.

Love can support, guide, heal and console,
Help others in reaching whatever their goal,
Can steady the ladder as upward they climb,
And lead by the hand to a life quite sublime.

Keeping people healthy

That's the role of public health nurse Marion Tallman

by Martin Biefer
Echo editor

Marion Tallman is a nurse -- but it's her job to keep people out of the hospital.

Tallman, a Wilberforce resident, is one of the three public health nurses in Haliburton County -- a job that has a different kind of satisfaction for her. It's a profession that brings her closer to the people -- and keeps her on the road nearly all of the time.

"Our role is preventative in nature," she points out. The role of the public health nurse "is to prevent something before it happens...and avoid the need for treatment."

It's a segment of the nursing profession that is growing, and although Tallman feels the career of the public health nurse "may not immediately be as rewarding" as that of a registered nurse, seeing what good the prevention of diseases can do has its own satisfaction.

"It grows on you," she says with a smile.

Prevention

What the public health service is best known for is its immunization program. The local (Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge) district health unit offers programs to prevent polio, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), diptheria, measles, mumps and rubella, through innoculation.

But there's much more to the job than just needles.

School nursing The three public health nurses spend regular periods of time in county schools. The main task of school nursing is to follow up on teacher and principal referrals and counsel students as required.

"We also run regular vision and hearing tests, and rapid classroom inspections for contagious diseases," noted Tallman. She said it's interesting to note that the latter test has remained standard procedure for decades -- even though the rest of the program has advanced so much.

Pre-school programs Children of pre-school age are examined at clinics, where such tests as Denver screening are carried out.

"Basically we're checking for developmental problems, in such areas as social, physical, language and fine and gross motor co-ordination," explains Tallman. The idea, she says, is to identify these problems, if they exist, and get help to the children as soon as possible. The sooner such problems are identified, the quicker the child can improve, she adds.

Pre-natal and Post-natal programs Both parents are encouraged to attend pre-natal classes.

There are courses in parenting, and post-natal visits made to homes.

"First-time mothers, especially, have questions," says Tallman. As well, if the visiting nurses detect any problems with a newborn infant doctors are notified.

"We work very closely with all the county doctors," she says, adding that the public health nurses often receive referrals from physicians.

"Distance has a lot to do with it," she says.

Diabetic and nutritional councilling "There are quite a few families that just don't have information about proper nutrition," says Tallman. Generally, nutrition counselling takes place upon referrals from doctors.

Health clinics In the diverse communities that make up the county, the health clinic is a necessity. Many people, especially senior citizens, just can't get out to hospitals -- institutions that are sometimes quite a distance away.

At the health clinics "we check blood pressure, we have programs aimed at diabetics, at those with declining vision, and aid for those with foot trouble," says Tallman. Nurses also stand ready "to deal with anything else brought to our attention."

Family planning A public health nurse in on call to get information "on all aspects of sexuality and communications," she says.

On the road

With that kind of a work load, and such a wide area to cover, one might assume Tallman would get tired of all the driving. But throughout her career she's worked outside Wilberforce.

She points out that there's a difference between a registered nurse and a public health nurse. Public health nurses require extra training at university, she said.

Tallman graduated in 1950 from the University of Western Ontario with a B. Sc. in Nursing and first worked at the Victoria Hospital in London.

She has worked, as well, in Haliburton, Emo, Hornepayne, Burks Falls and Bancroft.

By 1959/60 she worked with Gertrude Miller one school year in the public health field, in the Haliburton County School Nursing Service.

Through the sixties she worked in the Hastings and Prince Edward County Health Unit in Bancroft, and in 1969 joined the Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge organization.

"Public health grows on you," she says. "You get to make a lot of visits, and there isn't quite such an 'emergency' type of environment."

"You work with all levels of people," she said.

The health unit is funded 75 per cent by the province and 25 per cent by the county. There's been an office in Haliburton village for many years -- the first was one on main street, the second was the old Dysart Telephone building, and their present quarters are the old Red Cross Hospital building opposite the Dysart Community Centre.

Marion Tallman of Wilberforce is one of the three public health nurses currently working in Haliburton County. She says she enjoys her work immensely -- despite the long hours of driving from place to place. "It's a career that grows on you", she says with a smile.

There's a close link between the health unit and such organizations as the CNIB, the Ministry of Health and the Haliburton County Home Support Service and the Children's Aid Society, to name but a few.

"When I started with the health unit...our role was more that of a social worker. In the past few years there have been many new services added," she says.

The health unit offers such programs as the infant stimulation program, a speech therapist and home care program.

Your public health nurse ...she's one of the many people to remember this week -- it's Nurses' Week.

How Much Of Your House Is Really Insured?

You might be shocked to find out.

Inflation and fluctuating real estate values have a way of reducing your insurance protection – unless your policy is constantly up-dated.

Then there are questions of land value, house foundations and the cost of removal and re-building.

To find out where you stand talk to one of the I.B.A.O. insurance brokers listed below.

Is there a difference between an I.B.A.O. broker and an agent?

Yes there is. An agent works directly for one insurance company. An I.B.A.O. broker is independent and unbiased.

Your broker is able to choose a policy that gives you the right coverage at the right price... making sure you're not under-insured or over-insured and that your interests are well represented when you come to making a claim.

Hi! Looks as if the weather has made a complete turnaround for the better and I am glad. I guess I can store the snow shovel afterall.

The number one song on CHUM for the week starting April 22 was Mr. Roboto by Styx for the second week in a row.

The tea for former school trustee Clare Fielder held last week, was well attended and many members of the board travelled from Lindsay to pay their respects. Mr. Fielder was presented with a plaque commemorating his 32 years of service. He was also presented with a drawing of Coboconk public school done by Sandra Yeo, and a collection of stories done by the grade one and two class.

There was a United Church walk-a-thon on Saturday, April 30. Several people participated in the 10 kilometre walk and there were free hot dogs and beverages for participants afterwards. All proceeds will go for World Development overseas.

The winner of Shirley Harrison's latest Wintario ticket was Gorden Ravelle.

The winner of the hockey pool for Saturday, April 23 was Tracy LeCraw. Lucky Tracy!

There was a talent show last Thursday, April 28, at the Coboconk Lions Hall. The participants were the grade 5 to 8 students of Coboconk Public School. In my opinion, it was funny, well-acted and very entertaining. Just one word to Mrs. Goldfarb: Have you tried Weight Watchers?

Last Wednesday, April 27 there was a Home and School meeting and open house at Norland Public School. After the meeting there was a film demonstration in the grade seven and eight class; a computer display in the three and four class; a film and cassette in the one and two class; a video in the five and six class, and last but not least, a slide presentation about Victoria County in the library.

There seems to be quite a severe flu bug going around. Some of the more seriously afflicted are Sherry Jewell, Marie, Janet and Matthew Jewell and Colleen and Derek Janke. May they all get well soon.

Master Andrew Adams of Uphill is quite ill and is staying in the hospital. I'm sure Andrew would appreciate a card or letter wishing him a quick recovery.

Mrs. Olivia Detlor of Norland is currently visiting relatives in England -- more details when she returns.

There was a teen dance at the Norland Community Hall April 30. Another teen dance is planned for May 7. The age is up to eighteen and the dances are usually a lot of fun. Plan to attend the next one.

The euchre scores for Thursday, April 28, were as follows: ladies high, Heather Pearce, men's high, Mike Puterbough; lone hands, (three-way tie) Tom Bowins, Barb Kenneth and Tracey Shorter.

My telephone informants also added that Grace England and Flo Alton were skunked while playing together -- better luck next time girls!

Recently the grade five and six class at Norland Public School travelled to Lindsay to see a play entitled "Schoolyard Games". From what I hear they enjoyed it very much.

Francie and Phil Hartwick of Ajax recently visited relatives in Norland.

Congratulations to Russell Graham who recently completed his first solo airplane flight. Russell has been taking flying lessons for several months now.

Well, that's all for this week. If you have any interesting news items give me a call at 454-3707.

Before I go here's a gem reported straight from the Coboconk talent show -- what is Tatoo's (of Fantasy Island fame) favorite flavor of potato chips?

Give up?

Hi again!

On Saturday, April 23 Bill Sr. and Jr. along with Jason, spent their day in Lindsay, Uxbridge, and a few towns in between while I stayed home and tried very hard to get a start on my spring cleaning.

The Lottario numbers for Saturday, April 23 were: 3-5-13-26-28-31 and guess who had 3-5-13-26-28 and 30?

Thank you for the thoughtful phone call re the last column Marg Viney.

Sorry to hear Mary Ash is in hospital in Toronto. The family's thoughts are with you at this time.

Bob and Jean Hollobon, Bill and I enjoyed a delicious B.C. salmon dinner plus a very nice evening last Sunday at the home of Bill and Win Wilson, R.R.1, Kinmount.

Mary L. and John Pyke, and Bill and Jason Moss had a great day also on Sunday, with a barbeque at the Alex and Helen Graham home in Norland.

Ida and Clyde Pardy are both surprised and pleased to see so many of their northern friends drop in and view their new venture, Pardy's Variety, formerly Fleming's Variety, in Lindsay, across the street from Victoria and Grey.

Hope Hugh Phillips, Fred Simmons and Walter Williamson are home from hospital and feeling better soon.

Baptisms at St. James Anglican Church, April 24 -- Gary Dettman, Robert Stanley Dettman, Brian Thomas H. Dettman, Nicole Jacklyn Dettman and Darryl James I. Dettman.

Welcome home to our neighbours the Hyams, Joan and Ken who have been in England for the past couple of months. We sure missed you and I enjoyed your phone chat Joan.

Happy Mother's Day on May 8 to all who qualify.

A happy birthday on Mother's Day to Ken Hyams who made sure his mother qualified by arriving on May 8 a few years back. Many more happy ones to you, Ken.

Jason was home again from school Tuesday, April 26 when he developed a very high fever the night before. Following lots of T.L.C. he's coming back quickly.

Sorry to hear Mary Snoddon is in hospital following surgery. Get well soon Mary.

Wasn't that a lovely day last Wednesday? Sure is nice to find flowers blooming at last.

Happy birthday to Peter Cruickshank on May 7.

There was a good turnout at the open house held at the Kinmount Public School, April 27. Jennifer Dettman opened the proceedings by welcoming all attending.

Mr. Allen gave a very interesting talk on computers and their place in the world today and in the future. He ended his program with a "Hands On" where the children and their parents could try out the computers themselves.

I was told by one reliable source that "it helps sharpen your mind and your mathematical skills." Madame Bailey's French class put on a "cute" skit which was done on video and later shown to the assembly, all around to enjoy the evening. A lovely lunch followed of tea and home-made loaf cakes.

Bill Stata entered hospital in Peterborough Thursday, April 28, for surgery to be done on Friday, April 29. Get well and back to your beautiful gardens soon, Bill. Those foot high blossoming tomato plants will have fruit before you get them into the ground.

Vivian Anderson, still has her cold but is getting out and around now.

Mary O'Toole hasn't been feeling tops lately either.

As of Thursday afternoon I find that Joan and her daughter Jessica Bowman are also on the ailing list.

From my "Fat-Back and Molasses" cook book: "Pork Cake": 1 lb. salt pork, 1 pt. boiling water, 1 tsp. soda, 4 cups flour, 1 cup molasses, 1 lb. currants, ½ lb. citron, ½ lb. nuts, 1 cup jam, 2 cups sugar, 1 tsp. cloves, 1 tsp. ginger, 2 tsp. cinnamon, 2 tsp. nutmeg, 1 lb. raisins. Pour boiling water over minced pork and add molasses and jam. Sift all dry ingredients. Add fruit and blend well. Bake in slow oven 2½ hours.

Dot Crego enjoyed phone calls recently from two of her sons, Reg and Ward, who now reside in Toronto.

This little gem comes from our St. James' cook book: "Lollipop" - a snack provided by people who don't have to pay your dental bills.

The aforementioned cook book was compiled by the A.C.W. of Kinmount and is now on sale at the low rate of $4 per copy. It is one of the projects the ladies have prepared in honour of the 100th birthday of St. James Anglican Church in Kinmount, 1883-1983. The plates and mugs which were also made up for our centennial have been sold out but are on re-order so don't miss out on the chance to have a momento of one of our old buildins in town. St. James, Kinmount, was founded by Rev. Edward Soward in the 45th year of the reign of Queen Victoria in 1882 and was dedicated by Archbishop Sweatman on August 31, 1883.

Happy birthday to Aileen Brown on Tuesday, April 12. Aileen, who is the lovely lady who remembers many people's birthdays with one of her beautiful cakes, was likewise honoured on her day when 14 or 15 friends, including two of her daughters from out of town arrived with ice cream and a lovely cake made by her aunt Margaret Kylie. They enjoyed their lunch and a very nice visit.

Dennis Dunbar has been in the hospital but arrived home Thursday, April 28. I'm told Dennis may have to undergo surgery so all our best to you also Dennis.

Glenn Viney is now home from Minden Red Cross and must "take it easy" but is coming along nicely.

Another little bit of Newfoundland wisdom "A test of good manners is being able to put up pleasantly with bad ones."

Well folks must go get the old Avon delivered. Be here healthy and happy next week and if you want your news in the Haliburton County Echo give your local reporters a call. I can be reached at 488-2353.

By the way, everyone is very cordially invited to attend an open house in honour of our Ruby Schell who will celebrate her birthday on Sunday, May 22 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the hall of St. James Anglican Church in Kinmount. Best wishes only, please.

One gentleman was telling me last Friday that there are now ten men, mostly from the old Vic Ply in Coboconk working at cutting pulpwood in the Victoria forest.

Glad to hear Eileen Shepstone is feeling much better and is back at her job.

Little master Doner one of our summer residents was not feeling too well last Friday.

Sympathy to the family and friends of a cousin of mine, who passed away at his home in South Pasadena, California, last Friday. Dean Forley was in his 70th year and had been in ill health for some time.

Very friendly group of people in T.J.'s last Saturday watching the travellers come down over 503.

Thanks to all who still are asking after our son Bill's health. Bill hasn't been too well this past week as he picked up a "bug" somewhere and with such low resistance at the moment, he hasn't anything to fight with according to his doctor. He

Ontario Tax Grants For Senior Citizens

1983 Instalments are in the Mail

Ontario Tax Grants for Seniors is a program designed specifically to help offset municipal and school taxes for Ontario residents 65 and over. The Ontario Ministry of Revenue is mailing cheques which comprise the first instalment of the 1983 Property Tax Grant of up to $250 and a temporary Home Heating Grant of $40. These cheques were mailed on April 29th.

Who will receive it?

- If you are 65 or over and own or rent your home, you are eligible for the Property Tax Grant.
- The 1983 instalment cheque is mailed to Ontario seniors who received the 1982 Property Tax Grant.
- This is intended to help you pay your property tax or rent for the first part of 1983. In the fall you will automatically receive an application for the balance of your grant.

Who will not receive it?

Basically, if you didn't receive a 1982 Property Tax Grant, you will not receive the spring instalment. In particular, seniors should note that:

- If you reside in a nursing home, home for the aged or any property tax-exempt institution, you are not eligible for the Property Tax Grant.
- If you turned 65 after December 31st, 1982 (and therefore did not qualify for a grant last year) you also will not receive the spring instalment. However, you will receive an application for the entire 1983 grant in the fall.

Coboconk News

by Shella Lake

A meeting was held in the library on Thursday night, to publicize a self-help group for M.S. May is carnation month, and when you purchase a carnation the money goes for research to help the many victims of M.S.

Mothers will sell real carnation flowers on May 6 and 7. This group started off in Lindsay and hopefully will establish groups in Burnt River, Norland, Kinmount and other nearby areas.

In Coboconk, Jones General Store has carnations for sale. The next meeting here in Coboconk will be on the evening of June 15 in the library.

Winners in the seniors card games on Tuesday night were as follows:

Euchre, first - Bessie Sedgewick, 70; ladies second - Elva Hannivan, 69; most lone hands, Olive Bryant, two; and consolation, Rose Cooper, 38.

Gents first, Stan Stewart, 78; second, Howard Stewart, 77; most lone hands, Joe Manley, five, and consolation, Marjorie Fountain, 42.

Bridge, first, Marg Purdon, 4760; second, Jack Sims, 4640, and consolation, Bill Brunwell, 760.

Andrea and Amy Sider of Lindsay spent the weekend with their grandparents, Everett and Jessie Cameron.

Mrs. Chris Kerr hosted a Tupperware party on Friday evening at her home. Miss Sherry Bowins, daughter of Elmer and Shirley Bowins, was honoured at a miscellaneous bridal shower in the community hall on Friday evening. She received many lovely gifts and graciously thanked those who were so kind to shower her with so many lovely gifts.

Mrs. Leone Jewell accompanied Margaret Davey to Little Britian last week where they visited Leone's sister, Mrs. Etta Teel.

We are having a visit from grandchildren, Sharon and Robert Lake of Stroud, for the weekend. Thursday afternoon, I drove great grandma Lake to Stroud and she stayed with Sharon and Robert overnight, and got them off to school Friday morning.

Friday about 4 p.m. I was back at Stroud to pick up the kids and great grandma (and the dog) and back we came to Coboconk. Bob and Marilyn Lake, the kids' mom and dad, were at a convention at Sudbury from Thursday to late Saturday. They came Sunday to take the kids back to Stroud.

The Horticulture Society met at the community hall on Monday. Somehow, considering there are over 160 members, very few turned out. They missed so much as the speaker was most interesting.

How about physically supporting this group by attending the meetings? We need your voice and support if we are going to beautify our town.

Mr. Walter Marles of Lindsay visited his mother, Mrs. A. Marles on the weekend. They went on to Norland and visited Mr. and Mrs. Rod Harrison and family.

The New Horizons are planning a bus trip to Ottawa very soon. More about that later.

Rev. and Mrs. Burrel Cross visited their son and family in Fredericton, N.B. last week. Their little grandson, Joel, who had been here on a visit returned home to mom and dad in N.B.

Mrs. Lily Ludlow was to undergo surgery last week but I have not heard the results. This dear senior needs your prayers and cards to cheer her. She has been in Peterborough Civic Hospital

Wilberforce News

The South Algonquin Kinsmen Club members have been busy lately. Tickets are selling well on their home-made quilt which is on display at the Bowes and Cocks office. These may also be obtained from any club member. The big Kintoria Day is coming up soon with an auction sale during the day and a big dance in the arena in the evening. Anyone wishing to donate articles for the auction please contact a Kinsmen member.

At the last Kinsmen meeting elections were held for the Kinsmen year 1983-84. The following are the new executive members -- President, Mac Gadway; First Vice-president, Dale McCrea; Treasurer, Murray Bolton; Secretary, Dwain Tighe; Registrar, Ken Noble; directors, Bob McCausland, Al Revill and Ron Barr. Past President, Jim Greenwood.

The club welcomes new members. Just give us a call.

Two more afternoons of bowling will wind up the series for the lively group who attend the bowling alleys in Bancroft every Wednesday. The play-offs have commenced and the Opals were cheering when teammate Lee Yewman of Gooderham scored a magnificent 288 in her last game. Moments earlier she had been presented with a crest for a former 275 game. Continued good luck to Lee in the final games.

A letter has come from California from Hugh Southworth. He requests a copy of the history of Monmouth. There were a number of Southworths here at the beginning of the century. He has an aunt, Maude Southworth who will be 97 this month and who remembers this area. Hugh is interested in locating any history of his family.

His great grandfather, Martin Southworth, died in Cheddar in 1890 and is buried in South Wilberforce cemetery. Before 1920 people by the name of Southworth operated a creamery in South Wilberforce and a Mrs. Moore who taught school in 1912-13 was a Southworth before her marriage. If anyone happens to have any information about this family please call 448-2598.

A correction on an item last week. The rummage sale being held at the Anglican church should have read April 30. The sales are finished at this time.

The girl's baseball team is now practising and getting ready for some super games that will soon begin. The ball field is in good shape and the addition of lights will prove a great help. The out-of-town competing teams will not be forced to leave before the game is finished. Anyone who would like to join, telephone Gail Krupa at 448-2582 (in the evenings).

Kinmount Korner

apparently was on the verge of pneumonia whereas previously it would have been a minor cold. As Bill says though, it's nice people care enough to ask.

Sure was a big crowd out to the Kinmount Legion Bingo last Friday night but I guess that will be the norm for the next few months.

"I believe in getting into hot water. I think it keeps you clean."

I, as you no doubt noticed, ended this column off earlier but that was because it was Friday and I, in a somewhat senile condition, thought it was Saturday, which is the day I have to mail these items so now, until next week, stay healthy and happy and read the Haliburton County Echo -- The paper of the north country.

Carnarvon News

by Ann McKay

Here are some of the happenings around the village in the month of April. I have been unable to write any news for the past three weeks. Is there anyone out there willing to fill in when I'm not available?

Mr. Fred Gregory of Ottawa spent some time with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gregory. Fred, who had undergone bypass heart surgery, I'm pleased to say, looked quite well after his ordeal.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Olan have returned home after spending a few weeks in Port Mansfield, Texas.

Last Sunday members of the Zion United church gathered for a luncheon in honour of Mrs. Elgin Stouffer, who is returning as organist and choir leader. She will be greatly missed.

It was during April the family and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Max McKay gathered at their home to help celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Howard Walker has been entertaining a relative who came to spend a few weeks with her from their native Scotland, and we hope she took back some pleasant memories of our area.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Archer are spending a few days with their sons Gary and Clifford and their families in London, Ontario.

Quite a number of people turned out on Sunday at St. Peter's Church, Maple Lake when the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario unveiled a plaque honouring Mr. Napier Simpson, a former member of the congregation who passed away in 1978. He was an active member of the Canadian Heritage Foundation.

It seems a number of properties in our area have changed hands or in the act of doing in the past couple of weeks. The following people's homes have been sold. Mr. and Mrs. Syd Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brown (who we hear are moving to the west coast), Mrs. Vi Smith and Mr. and Mrs. McPherson.

We are going to miss all of these people and give them our best wishes to take wherever they move to.

The co-workers of Mrs. Max McKay at the Leslie Frost Centre gathered on Thursday afternoon in a small common room to help celebrate her retirement with lovely gifts and a lunch including a beautifully decorated cake done by Ken Kernohan. Anne has worked at the centre for the past sixteen years steady and for short periods at a time before that.

From the Chamber

important to note therefore that the centre will continue to operate and provide referral service with the help of the many volunteers and people wishing to avail themselves of this service should call 457-2733. The Chamber will now handle the coming events but we cannot contact the various organizations -- they must call us at 286-1760 and we will distribute the information to the same mailing list that was being utilized by the centre.

Minister to unveil plaque in Minden May 18

Municipal Affairs and Housing Minister Claude Bennett will be in Minden May 18 for a ceremony commemorating the dropping of Haliburton County's former "provisional" status.

At the same time, the way will be paved for the launching of the Haliburton County trade coins.

The minister will unveil a plaque outside the county offices in Minden at 3 p.m. The trade dollars -- which are redeemable at face value in the county all this year -- depict the county coat of arms on one side, and a likeness of Thomas Chandler Haliburton on the other.
